Oneida Nation

The Treaty of 1838 between the Oneida and the United States established the present-day Oneida Indian Reservation boundaries located in present-day northeast Wisconsin.

Menominee Indian Tribe of Wisconsin

Presently, the Menominee Indian Tribe of Wisconsin can be found approximately 45 miles to the northwest of Green Bay, Wisconsin. The Menominee Indian Reservation closely aligns with the geopolitical borders of Menominee County, encompassing the ancestral homelands of the tribal community.
